

Leadership

You are able to visibly demonstrate your leadership in environmental sustainability.

No capital outlays

Your capital continues to run your business and not be diverted by environmental activities.

Immediate emissions reductions

An immediate and measureable reduction in green house emissions.

Regular, accessible reports

Ingenero provides online, real time updates on the amount of energy your system is producing and your reduction in emissions.

Visible

On-site commitment to renewable energy that will enhance your public image.

No performance issues

You are not troubled by any performance issues. Ingenero owns the systems and we only get paid on the solar energy produced, therefore it is in our best interests to ensure that the system is operating at optimal capacity.

No maintenance costs

Ingenero owns the system and therefore is responsible for the maintenance of the system.

Risk free

Ingenero owns all the risk for the performance and maintenance risks associated with the ownership of a solar solution.

Predictable Costs

You have predictable, solar energy costs which allow you to budget well into the future.

Reliable energy supply

You receive a reliable energy supply that is visible and 100% renewable.

Increase the value of your asset

Our systems will enhance the value of your property by improving the sustainability rating and resale value of the property.

Simple

No risk approach enables early introduction to renewable technology and the renewable energy market in general. We provide the total solution for you.

Enhance your Public Image

We can support your organisation's environmental positioning with marketing and promotional activities such as issuing press releases, testimonials and web site promotion.
