Happy with Ingenero's work

WHILE Mat Nott expresses noble sentiments about the awarding of contracts to local firms, Ingenero operate from an office in Warana, Sunshine Coast, and were the company that we chose for our house installation after four local companies had quoted.

They have done many large set-ups for the big supermarket chains and have a lot of experience. Ingenero used a Hervey Bay electrician to set up our system.

We have been more than happy with the results obtained from our 3KW system and the amount generated has been higher than that of other people I have spoken to with 3KW systems supplied by other firms.

WBW have a responsibility to the people of the Fraser Coast to get the best long-term results and this is a 25-year project at least, so local might not actually work out best every time. Trust me, I wish it did, because I much prefer to buy local. – ANDY VINNICOMBE, Torquay.
